

MAKE YOUR FIRST MONEY MAKING CONTENT.

We're Penn students building brodie, a personal trainer that lives in your texts. We work with a top-5 UFC fighter and creators with 100k+ followers, and we need people to shoot and cut with them. No professional experience needed. Paid per piece.

#5

ranked UFC flyweight
on the roster

100k+

followers per creator you'd shoot with

2,000+

lifters, trainers and pros
already on brodie

WHAT YOU'D DO

Shoot with athletes and creators: gym sessions, fight camp, day-in-the-life.

Cut short-form for Instagram and TikTok: the hook, the first three seconds.

Write hooks and captions in the creator's voice.

Show up on time with a phone that shoots 4K. That's the whole bar.

WHAT YOU GET

Paid per published piece. For most people, the first money they've made from content.

Real numbers on accounts that already have reach, not a test account.

Real names on your resume: a UFC fighter, 100k+ creators, a funded startup.

A brief and feedback on every piece, so you improve every week.

PENN PEOPLE DID THIS

3.6M

Andy Jiang, W '25

TikTok. Started from a $20 bet in quarantine.

4.2M

Noah Schnapp, '26

YouTube. Graduated from Penn this year.

90k

Domonique Malcolm, C '22

YouTube. Content got her the job after.

25k

Jack Rogers, C '26

TikTok, 5M likes. First sponsorship while at Penn.

REACH at Penn, the student creator club: 50-100 members, four committees. Proposal: one paid content day with a UFC fighter and a 100k+ creator for the Personal Content Creation committee. Contact Melinda Mei, upennreach@gmail.com.

reply with one thing you made

A reel, a TikTok, a photo, a meme.

We reply to everyone. First six get the first shoot date.

getbrodie.com