

GET PAID TO MAKE CONTENT FOR A PENN-ALUM STARTUP.

brodie is a personal trainer that lives in your texts, founded by Penn alumni and used by Olympic athletes and UFC fighters. We're running a UGC program with REACH: Penn students make short-form content for the brand and get paid directly, a base per piece plus bonuses on views, with real experience creating for a company with real athletes.

#5

ranked UFC flyweight
training with brodie

Olympic

athletes on the roster
you'd create around

2,000+

lifters, trainers and pros
already on brodie

01

Join through REACH

Open to every member. No portfolio, no experience needed.

02

Get the brief and the app

Free brodie access, a one-page brief, the formats we're testing.

03

Film it your way

Your gym, your room, your voice, your phone. Post it or send it.

04

Get paid, see the numbers

Base per published piece, bonus on views. We share what worked and why.

WHY WE'RE DOING IT

Volume finds the hits. Short-form is a power law: one video in many breaks out. More creators, more shots, more breakouts.

Formats get tested at scale. Twenty students trying twenty angles beats one editor guessing.

Students are the audience. Content made by lifters at Pottruck lands with lifters everywhere.

WHAT YOU GET

Money. A base for every published piece, plus bonuses as views climb. Your breakout pays you.

Experience. Briefs, feedback and real performance numbers, every week.

Names. A funded startup, UFC fighters and Olympic athletes on your resume.

PENN PEOPLE DID THIS

3.6M

Andy Jiang, W '25

TikTok. Started from a $20 bet in quarantine.

4.2M

Noah Schnapp, '26

YouTube. Graduated from Penn this year.

90k

Domonique Malcolm, C '22

YouTube. Content got her the job after.

25k

Jack Rogers, C '26

TikTok, 5M likes. First sponsorship at Penn.

For REACH: we pay your creators directly, a base per published piece plus view bonuses, run with the Personal Content Creation committee. We bring the budget, the brief, the athletes and the product. REACH brings the creators. One 30-minute call to set the first drop.

reply with one thing you made

A reel, a TikTok, a photo, a meme.

We reply to everyone. First drop goes to the first twenty.

getbrodie.com